FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

McKinney & Associates, P.C. Battles Trafficking with Donation to The Exodus Road

October 30, 2015, Colorado Springs – In an effort to fight human trafficking, the law office McKinney & Associates, P.C. of Colorado Springs has partnered with The Exodus Road, an NGO with operations in Colorado, India, and Southeast Asia. The firm’s donation will sponsor the utility of a user-friendly mobile app that enables peer-to-peer funding, giving The Exodus Road the opportunity to reach many potential new donors. This social engagement tool makes residual giving limitless, which will ultimately result in many more rescues of children in bondage.

The Exodus Road is an organization that works in close collaboration with local law enforcement officials by providing undercover evidence of slavery and trafficking, which can lead to arrests of perpetrators and freedom for victims. McKinney & Associates, P.C. learned about this work and wanted to help, particularly because human trafficking happens in Colorado Springs, as well as in foreign countries.

“When it comes to family law matters, our firm strives to assist clients in securing their futures, their children and their lifestyles,” said a McKinney & Associates, P.C. representative. “Modern day slavery is an alarming issue; with occurrences in our own backyard coming to light, it is an increasingly relevant topic.”

By sponsoring the use of this new crowd funding platform, McKinney & Associates, P.C. aims to ensure exponential, long-term funds directed toward finding and freeing those caught in the web of trafficking. “It is our hope that by supporting The Exodus Road, our belief in the fundamental protection of children and families will develop and extend even further into the future.”

Whether one is facing a personal injury, family law or bankruptcy issue, an attorney from McKinney & Associates, P.C. can help.
